half a dozen boys, and a mement later two fleet-footed dogs were slipped and, with a yelp, started in pursuit of Mr. Jack Rabbit. Then followed an exhibition of ground-gaining speed that would make a racing automobile burst a tire with envy. The rabbit generally covered fifty or sixty yards before the hounds got within striking distance, when the long-cared animal adopted new tactics. He turned and dodged faster than a man pursued by a collector, but the dogs, as a rule, were right after the rabbit in the next instant. These movements were kept two fleet-footed dogs were slipped and, were right after the rabbit in the next instant. These movements were kept up until, like a flash, one of the dogs would anticipate the next move and snatch the rabbit by his back while in midair. An attendant at once ran up and dispatched the unlucky jack, who had measured his speed against an animal that nature had intended should travel faster.

The rabbits, as a rule, were quickly caught by the dogs, but on two different occasions they led the hounds a merry chase before going down.

Three single dogs were let loose at different times after a single rabbit. different times after a single rabbit, which seemed to please the crowd more. When this occurred it was a different proposition and took the dog several minutes to run the jack down.

Several of the finishes were of the order that arouses the enthusiasm of the spectators. The feature of the pro-gramme was the Christmas handicap at a mile and a quarter, with a purse of $3,390.

Seven clever performers went to the post, with Nones a favorite at 3 to 1. The heavily played Articulate set the pace, but the fast clip and heavy impost told on him and he tired, as did Corrigan, who raced with him. Nones was in a good position among the first division, and when Minder called on him he did not have much trouble in passing the leaders. He won in a gallop from Bessie McCarthy and Siddons, both of whom closed fast. Articulate and Corrigan were next in line.

(Special to The Herald.)

Park City, Dec. 25.—Mexican Pete, who is now located here, has accepted the challenge of James J. Jeffries to stop any man in the state in four rounds or forfeit $200, the match to come off in Sait Lake on New Year's eve. The Mexican has been training for some time and is matched to meet Tom Lynott here next week. He says the challenge, coming as it does, finds him in good condition, and that he thinks he can hold the champion off for the required four rounds. for the required four rounds.

The bunnies were started from a box in front of the grand stand by the beating of tin cans and the yells of half a dozen boys, and a moment later of the grand attention, and you can say for me that I think the two champions will come out of the mixup with flying colors."

If Pete holds to his word and faces If fete holds to his word and faces Jeffries, as he says he is willing to do, the local ring followers will see some fun. Fete is not afraid of any man alive in the ring, and if he attempts to keep away from the big fellow four rounds to win that $200 there will be something doing around here about that time.

M'LEOD NOW CHAMPION

Jenkins Quits on Third Fall in Championship Wrestling Match on Account of Injury.

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 25.—Dan Mc-Leod won the championship at catch-as-catch-can wrestling and the $1,500 end of a $2,000 purse, in Mechanics' hall before 1,100 people this afternoon, by getting the better of Tom Jenkins. Jenkins had a bad leg, caused by blood poisoning, and the pain caused by the points of a brass buckle entering the foot made him quit in the third bout. In order to protect the injured part Jenkins had a leather bandage with a steel strap down the front of the shin, fastened with brass buckles. Two of these were broken in the early part of the match and the brass points dug into his flesh until the pain was unbearable and he was afraid of further blood poisoning.

the third bout when he told McLeod the condition he was in and said he Porter's Durgin was also sent after a rabbit alone and made quicker work of him. The latter jack, however, was not on to the trick of turning as well and tried to outrun the dog, but his efforts cost him his life in a very few seconds.

The rabbits had been kept shut up in a dark room for the past week and were unable to do their best when turned loose yesterday. The white snow seemed to blind them and they could not run as well as if they had been out in the open. The snow also retarded the efforts of the dogs, but, take it all in all, it proved to be a good a cold for the second in twenty-four minutes on a crotch and half-Neison hold. The match was fast from the start, McLeod being on the aggressive almost all the time.

Ogden, Dec. 26.

BROWN NOT WORRIED

Convicted of Murder He Stoically Accepts Situation With Prospect of Imprisonment.

William Brown, the man convicted Christmas eve of murder in the second degree, spent a reasonably merry Christmas yesterday, considering the fate that is probably in store for him. Brown was in his usual spirits and as communicative as he ever has been to his fellow prisoners. The verdict of the jury was somewhat of a surprise to those who considered the plain legal technicalities in the case. For the most part such people predicted either an acquittal or a conviction of murder in the first degree. It was conceded that Brown did not fire the shot that killed the Chinaman, Gee Yom, but it was contended that he entered the place for the purpose of robbery and was prepared to kill if necessary in order to accomplish his purpose. The judge charged the jury that under such circumstances the one man was guilty alike with the other if a murder resulted, no matter which man fired the fatal shot. The judge has power to sentence the prisoner to imprisonment for life, and whether he will observe the recommendation of mercy submitted by the jury or not is a question. The sentence is to be passed on Jan. 5. CHRISTMAS GIVINGS.
